

I, Vells Estevan Gilroth, have passed from this mortal realm and the holy Seven Elders have taken me into their good care. Mourn me not for I lived a blessed life. One day I will be reunited with my three siblings and I hope that we shall be reconciled; leaving all the mortal concerns that divided us behind.

As people expect, I will provide guidance on what shall happen to all that was mine in life. My possessions have been... secured within my home. The ones who can open my home are the inheritors of my wealth. I have also left a small sum with my faithful manservant, Sigfried Lepoul, for him, for Dar Avrenna, and for several good people in Shammelvot who have been great friends to me. I entrust to Sigfried the task of giving that away.

To my apprentices, Lee-Lee, Xander, Reynaldo, Tatsu, and Gioffre I leave this wisdom. The Pieces Will Go... 99 days and not a moment more.

May the grace of the Seven Elders be upon you all as much as you deserve.
